Why is faculty diversity important?

ACADEMIC MISSION

An academic community that reflects a diverse range of interests, abilities, life experiences and worldviews will enhance the academic mission of the University of California

LEGITIMACY

Equality of opportunity will ensure that UC can fully utilize the intellectual resources embedded in our diversity and maintain our legitimacy as a public land grant university.

What do we mean by diversity? UC Academic Senate Diversity Statement

Adopted by the Assembly of the Academic Senate, May 2006

Endorsed by the President, June 2006

Adopted by The Regents as University Policy, September 2007

“Diversity – a defining feature of California’s past, present, and future – refers to the variety of personal experiences, values, and worldviews that arise from differences of culture and circumstance. Such differences include race, ethnicity, gender, age, religion, language, abilities/disabilities, sexual orientation, socioeconomic status, and geographic region, and more.”

What about Proposition 209?

• Proposition 209 can be understood as supporting the University’s commitment to eliminate discrimination and provide equal opportunity for all faculty and students.

• Where there is underrepresentation, the University must take steps to address the barriers that prevent full participation of women and racial minorities in academic careers.

Study Group on University Diversity Report to The Regents September 2007

RECOMMENDATIONS:

- Adopt as Regents Policy the University of California Diversity Statement adopted by the Assembly of the Academic Senate in May 2006
- Affirm that change is needed to achieve a level of diversity among students, faculty, and staff appropriate to our mission, as well as an open and inclusive climate on each of our campuses
- Require the President of the University to report annually to The Regents on the status of diversity at the University.

“I have been here 32 years and have sat in a lot of faculty meetings where comments were made about the importance of considering diversity in our hiring. About as much attention was paid as when people sit on an airplane and are told how to buckle a seatbelt...except there the plane won't leave until the seatbelt is buckled.”

The changing paradigm:

- In the past, studies have been conducted, reports have been published, and search committees have been briefed.
- Now, faculty, department chairs, deans and senior administrators must engage resources to achieve a more diverse and inclusive faculty.
- The University must be a national leader in addressing faculty diversity, consistent with its position as a pre-eminent public intellectual institution in the most diverse state in our nation.
